

GETTYSBURG, PA.

TUESDAY, FEB. 12, 1869.

The inauguration of President Harrison will cost half a million dollars. The wants of the fathers has departed.

Gov. BEAVER was in Pittsburg a few days ago, and when interrogated, said he had not decided whether to vote for the prohibition amendment or not, and could not predict the result.

ALIENATION is wavering, and may go into the cabinet after all. The anti-slave men are becoming furious over the prospect.

QUAY must have Prohibition defeated at the polls, or give up all hope of money aid to the liquor men hereafter. And without such aid could he hold the State?

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONER EDGERTON has been removed by the President, and Assistant Secretary Thompson appointed in his place.

The United States has twenty-two war vessels of the first class, and latest design built and building, five large monitors which will hurt whatever they hit.

WAGONS have been reduced at the Glendale Iron Works, Easton, and at the Brooks Iron Works, Bethlehem. Most the election of Harrison go nothing? What a sham the Republican party has become!

THE SOUTH PRESS.—George Shinn says that the Vanderbilt will themselves build the South Penn. Let the whole blow!

Another story is that the Pennsylvania will build the South Penn from Harrisburg to Bedford, connecting there with the Pennsylvania, Bedford and Bridgeport line. This line is now reached over the Humpback and Broad Top Railroad, over which the Pennsylvania has no control. When the Pennsylvania tried originally to buy the South Penn, it was already to make this connection.

THE SPRING elections are always important. Democrats must do their duty next Tuesday.

PHILADELPHIA had a half-million lire on Sunday destroying the great drug house of John Wyeth & Brother and Frank E. Morgan's handsome drug store. One fifteen men were killed and two injured.

EASTERN PENITENTIARY—Adams county for the year ending Dec. 31, 1867, had in the Eastern Penitentiary 12 convicts, who served 3,486 days. The charge made to the county was $267.15 or about 72 cents a day for each.

Cumberland county for the same year had in the same penitentiary 36 convicts, who served 9,536 days. The charge made to the county was $179.55 or about 5 cents per day for each.

The difference was owing to the credit allowed for work done by the convicts. Considering the fact that the fare furnished the convicts in the institution was good and comfortable this is a remarkable exhibit and speaks well for the management. It also shows that it is well to make convicts work for their own support. Hon. Richard Vaux is at the head of the Board of Managers and should be kept there as long as he lives. None other could fill the place as efficiently as he.

REPRESENTATIVE KAUFMAN's committee of ex-soldiers, to investigate the management of the Soldier's Orphan Schools, and report as to the advisability of their continuance, was announced by Speaker Boyer in the House on Friday. It is composed of Wm. F. Stewart, of Philadelphia, as chairman, and L. H. Evans, of Chester; T. W. Bent, of Monroe; J. K. Blundell, of Washington, and C. W. Miller, of Fulton, four Republicans and one Democrat.

Gerrit Davis, a gallant soldier serving in his paper, the Daytown Democrat, said it is a syndicate asking for the school's continuance, and that they should be cast out without delay.

MRS. JAMES G. BLAINE, Jr., goes on the stage under the management of the Famous, of the New York Lyceum Theatre, at a larger salary, he says, than has ever been paid to any leading actor or actress.

REGIMENTAL REUNION.—As before stated in this journal, the reunion of the 2d Pa. Regt. will take place at Carlisle on the 2d of March. This company had a company in the regiment, first commanded by Capt. Frederick and subsequently by Capt. Hinckle, and the memory of the Association is anxious to hear of a lock-up early in the spring.

General George Custer, serving in his paper, the Daytown Democrat, said it is a syndicate asking for the school's continuance, and that they should be cast out without delay.

"RED-NOSE MICK" has been found guilty of the murder of Paymaster McClintock and will hang.

Prisoner CUMBERLAND will take up his residence in New York city and become a member of a strong law firm, and Col. Lamont will become railroad man.

IT WAS SUICIDE.

LONDON, February 5.—The Daily News to-day has the following special from Munich, dated Tuesday:

The following are believed to be the circumstances under which the death of the Austrian Crown Prince took place: A beautiful young man, very tall, but rather thin, was discovered dead in his room at Mysleic and, took up her quarters in the gamekeeper's house, not far from the castle. No one knew of his being there except the gamekeeper, who, when he went to the castle, found his master had hidden his guests good-night he went to see him and had been with him for about an hour when the former, who had been drinking, took him to the house to ask the gamekeeper about details of instructions on some doubtful question.

The gamekeeper, who had a window opened and a fire lit just round the hearth, the fugitive said when the gamekeeper asked him what he was doing, "I am a crow." The fugitive called for help, and another man carried him into the gamekeeper's house, where he was soon taken to the house to ask the gamekeeper about details of instructions on some doubtful question.

Attention to Details.

Unwillingness to fuse with little things is at the bottom of more failures in farming than any one cause. It is that spuds furnaces the country. What they can do with horses, however, is not the result of depression in the price of farm products, for they have commanded improved markets during the last year, and it will not be pretended that there has been overrunning among the frugal farmers of Berks County.

Well, what must be the intelligent comment on the failure of so many farms in Berks County? It is not accident, it is the result of panic, such as was had in 1873, it is not because of any financial reason; for money is plenty and cheap, it is not the result of depression in the price of farm products, for they have commanded improved markets during the last year, and it will not be pretended that there has been overrunning among the frugal farmers of Berks County.

Now that the national campaign is over and partisan prejudice and passion do not obscure the truth from those who have most interest in the truth, the farmers will readily see why they are realizing less for their investments and labor each year and why their profits are declining in value.

It is not because they are bad, but it is because they are taxed more.

In the other a successions of small gains which are ever the surest basis of prosperity. It is often said to the mark, of a good farmer to have something to sell through the year, and to keep each week his income within his expenditures. In some branches of farming this must be impossible. But there is in any branch the necessity of such carelessness as well, that whenever the farmer sells his not in sure best produced a loss.

Even so, therefore, of one of the necessary conditions of success in farming, and it is mainly economy in travel expenses. The perception of this truth has made farmers as a class seem to many needlessly cautious and penurious. More saving is not economy. Nobody should realize this more strongly than farmers who sow and manure liberally in hope of more bountiful harvests. But there needs also to be wise discrimination against expenditures of money as investments that do not produce paying results. The largest expenses of the farm cannot easily be avoided. They ought often to be increased in the interest of future profits. Improvement of farm stock, underdraining and manuring all cost money, but they bring money back again. It is the trick expensive, the product nothing in return that will run any business of long continued.

Good farming also demands the close and constant attention of the owner, or at least of some one who will be interested to look after the owner's interests. Many little things are sure to go wrong, if the owner trusts the management of everything to average help. Some people attempt the business of farming when they are not ready so many other cases of greater importance that their success is impossible. The man who puts his hand to the plow, above all others, must not look back, nor yet sideways. To do good work at farming must demand one man's entire attention and will be generally more successful if it is strated to what one man can himself do.

It has been, and is still common in most parts of this country. The temptation is strong to grab and hold more than can be thoroughly cultivated. While we hold great quantities of land to be brought under culture, the improvements on it made the holding of adjacent land less practicable. That time has gone by. There is now no advance in price of land except by in some way increasing its productivity. This is expensive, since it requires the most careful management. It cannot be done in the whole the way so well as by each farmer taking no more land than he can well manage. This is disastrous for the future of our farming than would be a different condition of farming affairs. —American Cultivator.

Holmes are now in order. If you want early cabbage and tomatoes the beds should be set by February and sown about the middle of that month. A small hottest will produce all the peaches, pears, tomatoes and egg plants wanted for a family.

PROVINCIAL dairymen claim that by allowing the cows salt freely it protects a flowing milk. This is explained by the fact that salt promotes the desire to drink more water. It is claimed that cows drinking less than seven quarts of water a day are poor milkers, water containing about 96 per cent of the milk.

ENTREPRENEURS made for the French Minister of Agriculture indicate that sugar is a better preservative of meat than salt. It is more expensive, but the powdered sugar forms a coating retaining the juices of the meat without loss, while nutritive qualities of the meat are considerably lessened by the salt.

TEST the water you drink or use for ordinary purposes. A simple method to test water for impurities is to dissolve a lump of sugar in a clean bottle filled with suspected water. Close the bottle with a clean stopper, set it in the window where the sun will fit upon it. If the water remains bright and lustered after a week's exposure it is fit for use, if not danger lurks.

CURING A DRINKARD.—The texture of capsicum is a strong fixture of African coffee pepper in alcohol.

According to an article in the British Medical Journal, it has been found by Dr. Renger that the fracture of capsicum in two doses is the best remedy to counteract that craving for alcohol which is the curse of all intemates, preventing their return to immoral conduct. This is especially suitable for other physicians, and they report very favorably in regard to it.

DR. HICKORY'S SWEET TEMPER.—"I cannot bear poor persons to my dear child," said General Hickory, on a visiting lady in whose welfare he felt a deep interest, "the greatest advantages that will result from a temperate conduct and sweetness of manner to all people, on all occasions. Never forget that you are a gentleman, and all your words and actions should be gentle."

"I am quick and hasty in my temper, but it is a misfortune which has caused me more trouble than anything else," he added.

AN immense locomotive, built at the London and Northwestern railroad at Crewe, England, for trial on the Pennsylvania railroad, has been tested at Philadelphia from the steamship British King. It is of the double expansion type, after the style of marine engines, and of a sort which has never been used with a locomotive in America. A speed of seventy miles an hour is claimed for it.

THE MOUNTAIN OF SWEET TEMPER.—According to Dr. Gaskell's Atlas Mount Hercules, in New Guinea, is the highest mountain in the world. Its height is given as 29,765 feet. The same authority gives Mount Everest as 29,002 feet, so that Mount Hercules holds the world as the highest mountain by 376 feet.

TO TAX ALL DOGS.—A bill has been introduced in the Legislature providing for a tax of $100 on the male and $2 on the female. The tax is to be devoted to such tax to the payment of sheep destroyed by dogs in the county and in towns and cities to the public school fund and to libraries.
